Protests

Although over 60 letters of protest had been received during the planning commission and council MONEYMAKER hearings, the council members woman Mary Carlin and Harry Iowa, it was announced here.

In other matters, the council gave final approval to the contro-versial "green belt" law for subdividers which is aimed at regulating wind erosion in sand-blow portions of desert development. Only no vote was made by Mayor Bogert who said he objected to the 150-foot "green belt" provision, considering it too much area.

The council also received a report from its airport commission on the proposal to contract with the Butler Aviation Co., to operation portions of the municipal airport. The council took no action since the contract had not vet been approved by the Federal Aviation

The contract calls for a 20-year lease with five-year intervals of d scussion at either party's request. It gives Butler exclusive fuel concession (except for airlines), as well as the porformance of renairs, sale, lease, etc., of private planes

Price, spice and everything nice!

Who ever thought a car that saves like this could have so much sizzle? Chevrolet engineers, that's who! Liveliness and luxury for a low, low price were exactly what they had in mind to begin with. And they began from scratch with a whole carload of ingenious new ideas designed to give you more for your money. That spunky 6 with gas-sipping stinginess is just one example. Another: a new unitized Body by Fisher that's fit for a full-size family inside, easy to park outside. Still another: tough but gentle one-piece Mono-Plate rear springs that outdo many a bigger car for quiet comfort. Any wonder Chevy II won Car Life magazine's 1962 Engineering Excellence award hands cown? (The wonder would be if you settled for anything less—once you get your hands on one at your Chevrolet dealer's!)

very fact that the producers lifted the old film was an admission of defeat, an acknow-ledgement that none of the video performers was up to the wonderful Jimmy's "Give My Regards To Broadway" and "Yankee Doodle Boy." And they were right. Except for some lusty singing by Dorothy Loudon, the show was slow, with unimaginative sets and straight, ineffective camera work. Some of the singing, notably by Danny Meehan and Lester James, was just plain bad-either off-key or cracked.

All of this general incompetence merely made the device of the Cagney clips seem as contrived as the use of an offstage telephone to relate action in a play. It was cheating, plain and simple The movies should thank NBC

Mr. Golf Has the Word for It

There was a ceremony in town Saturday morning which should make every one in Palm Springs feel good.

Ground was broken at Desert Hospital for the Palm Springs Golf Classic Wing, possible by the organization for the new and needed wing was named

By the time the fourth annual Palm Springs Golf Classic is staged on our famed golf courses, the new 22-bed wing will already have been in operation for sev-

In this case it is almost like having your cake and eating it too. Not only did the Golf Classic carry the name of Palm Springs and the Desert Empire to every corner of the nation via news service wires, radio and television to bring publicity of untold value to the area but the substantial result remains with us in the new hospital wing which fills a great need here. The explosive growth of the area is rapidly over-taxing the hospital's anxious desire to provide health care for those who need it.

Through the tireless efforts of William Perlberg and Milton Prell, co-chairmen of the hospital building fund drive, the generosity of the Classic and the assistance of Bob Hope, Frank Sinatra and Dean Martin at the $100-a-plate Classic dinner, work is under way on the new wing and the furnishings and equipment are assured,

The Golf Classic which will have its fourth annual renewal next January is one of the greatest attractions ever offered in the Desert Empire. It ranks alongside the Tramway as an attention-getter.

There's an old saying: Stand up and be counts have been too low as many people

In the two weeks after the conclusion of the tournament, every day's mail brought copies of newspapers from cities stretching across the nation and up into New England and even down into Florida, with full pages of pictures and stories of the event.

Milton Hicks, Mr. Golf, one of the leading spirits back of the Classic, terms the publicity value of the event to the desert resort area as "fantastic."

Not only is the publicity value to the resort area fantistic but the very substantial, tangible aid to resort charities, also

As Hicks put it in a report on the Classic to Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce directors, "there is no reason why, with the proper direction and enthusiastic cooperation of the Desert Empire Communities, the event cannot bring $150,000 annually to desert charities.

Ed Vines, Bermuda Dunes Country Club golf pro and co-chairman of the tournament with Hicks, added that potential revenue sources for the Classic has been virtually un-

The key word in the glowing statements of "Mr. Golf" are "the enthusiastic cooperation of the communities."

That is what must be remembered. The Classic not only is of inestimable value in keeping the desert resort area in the public eye, it also rates top billing in a financial way for our charities.

To insure the bright future for the Classic as envisioned by Milt Hicks and Ed Vines, the communities must not stand back and allow a few men to carry the burden.

After all, the entire desert resort area

JFK and Glenn Perfect Examples of Class

I should have zagged the other day, inside the White House, Instead of winding up in the press room wth the rest of the working stiffs I found myself in a nice round room filled with some people who looked hauntingly familiar. And they were.

To drop a few names there were the President of the U.S. of A., a couple of his sisters and their husbands, the vice president, astronaut John Glenn and his wife kids, mother, father and in-laws, Gen. Curt Lemay, Robert Gilruth, who heads up project Mercury, Maj. Don Slayton, US-AF, the next American headed for orbit, Lt. Cmdr. Scott Carpenter, who would have been the first American in orbit if Glenn had stubbed his toe on the way to his rocket last Tuesday, a large number of children and several butlers serving coffee and cake.

The Secret Service, taking a long chance, let me be. This break enabled me to study at close focus the natural ease of the two most famous men in the nation today, the 45-year-old President and the 40-year-old Marine who put the country solidly back into the man-in-space race. They epitomize Heming-way's simple definition of that never readily definable word "class." Class, the man once wrote, is "grace under pressure." He later amended it to "poise under pressure." The same dif-

Guy From a Small Town

By the same token, Glenn had magnificent class upon being exposed to the hot lights of the capital of the free world. For all his war record, which includes an Air Medal with 18 clusters, he is basically a guy from a small town in Ohio with a knack for flying anything that comes his way, including a Mercury capsule. His integrity glowed like his capsule's heat shield during his remarkable little speech to the joint session of the Congress. There was none of the corny "shucks. I'm just a country boy" about Glenn, instead he maturely stressed the infancy of our space effort and the enormous challenges that lie beyond.

He spoke knowingly of meagre beginnings that produced bounty, penicillin emerging from common moulds, the incredible uses of electricity from Faraday's crude experiments. And he had the courage to be unashamedly patriotic - a much misunderstood and sometimes abused attitude in our time. Glenn said it was a thrill to see the American flag along the parade route, a joy to know that the land still takes pride in putting over a feat such as the one in which he starred.

The nation is blessed with good young people at a time of test, resolution and need for a vigorous image. We don't recall any time in our recent history when we had available two young men better fitted to present our basic case before the jury of the world

QUOTES

LONDON-Kenneth Gatland, a contributor to the European space program, on sharing space technology with the Russians:

"They want to be first on the moon. They will offer no information that might help anyone beat them there, or even get there at the same time. I am crtain of that."
